CACD ALLIANCE

MESSAGE FROM BISHOP OLIVIER Coordinator of Catholic Alliance for Charity and Development

In the early twentieth century, Caritas was born as a federation to ensure better coordination of all the charitable organizations that existed in the Church to serve the poor.

Benedict XVI in his Motu Proprio on the Service of Charity (2012) points out: “practical activity will always be insufficient, unless it visibly expresses a love for man, a love nourished by an encounter with Christ” (Deus Caritas est., 34). In carrying out their charitable activity, therefore, the various Catholic organizations should not limit themselves merely to collecting and distributing funds, but should show special concern for individuals in need and exercise a valuable educational function within the Christian community, helping people to appreciate the importance of sharing, respect and love in the spirit of the Gospel of Christ. The Church’s charitable activity at all levels must avoid the risk of becoming just another form of organized social assistance (cf. ibid., 31).- Preamble

By establishing the Catholic Alliance for Charity and Development, I wanted to have a structure for meeting and for dialogue among all those working in the service of charity within the Catholic Church in Cambodia. In the Catholic Alliance for Charity and Development they could share their challenges, return to the source of their mission, Jesus Christ, but also join together in tackling new challenges while respecting the mission and charism of each NGO or congregation.

To mark the twentieth anniversary of Diplomatic Relations between the Holy See and the Kingdom of Cambodia, I am pleased to present this small guide to the members of the Catholic Alliance for Charity and Development. It reflects the work of the Catholic Church for the common good and for social justice here in Cambodia.

Let me express my deep appreciation to all members for their participation and dedication to those whom society unfortunately forgets. The dedication of the members will ensure that everyone can find a place in the Cambodia of the XXI century.

"The love of Christ urges us" (2 Cor 5:14). Our mission is to support humanity in the search for the fundamental human rights to freedom, education, health, and finally a happy life.

Bishop Olivier Schmitthaeusler
Vicar Apostolic of Phnom Penh
President of the Episcopal Conference Laos / Cambodia

Catholic Alliance for Charity and Development

OVERVIEW

The idea of establishing Catholic Alliance for Charity and Development (CACD) was initiated in 2011. CACD is an essential cooperation enhancement platform for information sharing among likeminded Catholic organisations to strengthen solidarity among the member organisations and to encourage exchanges of good practices and lessons learned from respective organisations working in similar sectors in order to effectively provide help and deliver needed assistance for the betterment of the marginalised, the vulnerable, who are the needy and the poorest of the poor in Cambodia.

OBJECTIVES OF THE CACD

- Strengthen the Catholic/Group Identity: As Catholic organizations we are linked by a rich tradition of Catholic social teaching and thought. The Alliance will seek to increase our understanding of our Catholic roots as the basis for strengthening our overall identity.
- Increase sharing of experience/knowledge among members: There is much experience and expertise among Catholic organizations. The regular meetings provide the basis for sharing this experience and knowledge to other members for their information and learning.
- Maximizing the Charitable work of the Alliance: Through sharing and strengthening, it is anticipated that Catholic organizations will be able to maximize their work together. The meeting will serve as a platform to discuss ways to compliment and expand our collective work as appropriate.

CACD MEMBERSHIP

Membership in the Alliance is open to all organizations affiliated with the Catholic Church. This includes religious orders, NGOs, movements (working in Charity & Development) and some delegates of the local Catholic Church. Representation at CACD meetings/events will generally be the head of the agency or his/her designate.

IMPACTS

CACD members have been working to improve the living conditions of Cambodians in impoverished communities through several sectors. In 2013, CACD has improved the lives of 1,290,806 people in Cambodia. The chart below illustrates number of Cambodian people who are the beneficiaries of the CACD member organisations according to various sectors of their works.

These remarkable impacts of the CACD as illustrated in the graph above were brought about through tireless efforts of all the CACD member organisations working in various projects and programs across numerous target areas throughout Cambodia.

Achievements

Community Development

ACR/CA provides financial support to community projects (for example, school buildings and water catchments) benefiting villages. Villagers contribute labour or materials and participate in maintenance committees generating a sense of community ownership. Focusing on access to clean water (supporting the construction of wells and pumps), education about hygiene and sanitation has made a significant difference in the target communities. To respond to food shortages, the program included establishing cow banks and rice banks. Self-help groups allow people to share experiences and participate in savings schemes. These projects have reduced people's vulnerability, and increased productivity, income and livelihood opportunities.

Youth Empowerment

Through a holistic approach the project contributes to the quality of life of under-privileged groups. It has enabled the community and young people to address basic human needs and to handle issues in their community. The project provides material support to the poorest of the poor and funding for community infrastructures and vocational training. Life skill training includes goal setting, critical thinking, self-esteem, team building and leadership skills

Support to PLHIV and OVC

ACR/CA ensures PLHIV have access to medication, health care services and support groups. Carers of PLHIV and OVC are trained to improve their skills and knowledge. Financial support and training to PLHIV is provided to enable them to initiate and manage income generation projects. Public awareness about HIV/AIDS is carried out which has decreased stigma and discrimination against PLHIV.

The Italian Lay Missionary Community

The Italian Lay Missionary Community was established in 1989 in Italy and has as its goal the commitment to the evangelization in countries other than its own, through the proclamation of the Word, bearing witness to the people and sharing everyday life with the people. The proclamation of Christ by word and the testimony of life acquires a specific property and peculiar efficacy because it is accomplished in the ordinary circumstances of the world and its keys elements and aspects are cooperation with the local church, service of human promotion and solidarity. Professional skills and human promotion are thought to be precious and useful for evangelization. The community is composed by women who are going through formation to commit life to Christ and to the mission, living the values of solidarity and service inspired by the Christian faith and promoting peace and solidarity paying particular attention to the needs of those who are most vulnerable.

In order to best serve the country of mission, the lay missionaries go through some theological, missionary, professional and intercultural formation and cooperate with missionary institutes and the local Church in Italy. The Lay Missionary Community started its very first mission in Cambodia in 1996. Since then it has been involved in education, health, human promotion and disability projects in Phnom Penh and Battambang provinces, in collaboration with the local Church, with PIME Missionary Institute and with New Humanity, the PIME NGO.

Achievements

1. Home of Children

Children, particularly the most marginalized ones who can't go to school because of poverty, or difficult family circumstances, are a major focus of our project. The aim of the Home of Children is to provide a caring environment in order to enable them to catch up on missed opportunities for basic education and basic care. This house will be a bridge to access to public elementary school for them.

2. Day Nursery

JLMM receive twenty seven children from 6:30 am to 18:30 pm in order to help mothers who go out to work

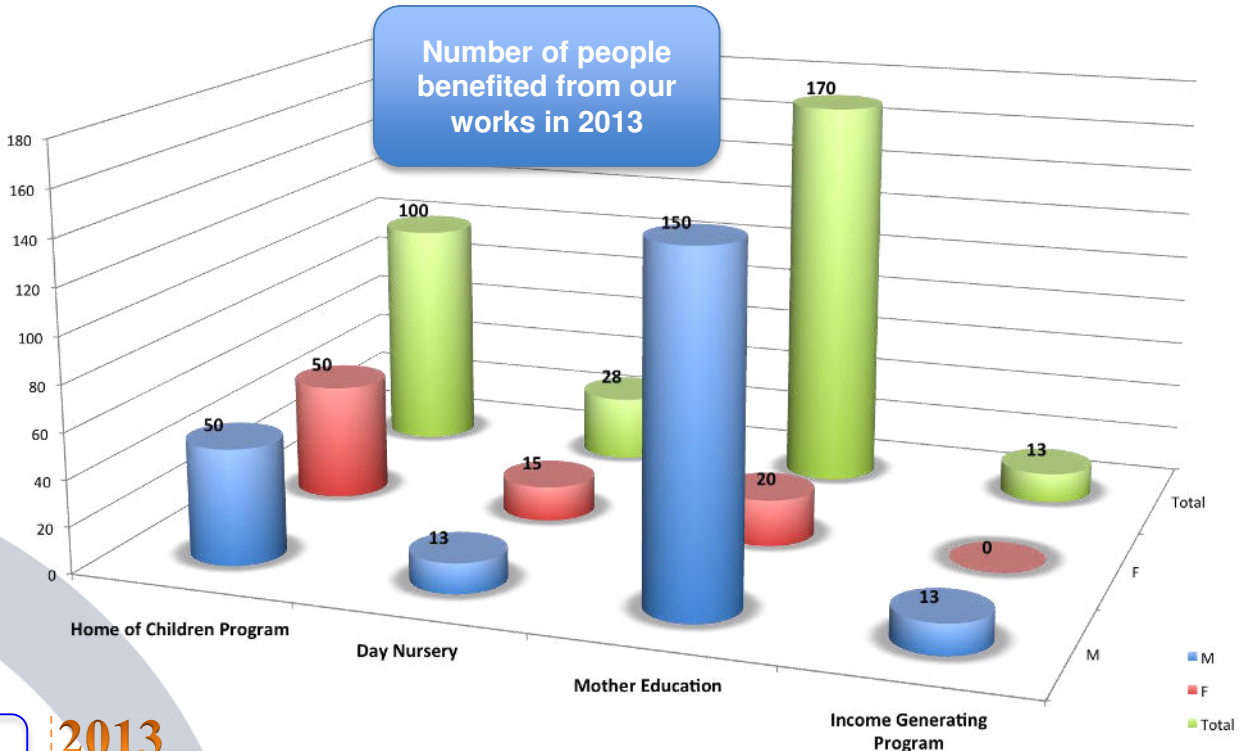

3. Mother Education

Mother is the key person to transform the living conditions in the family. JLMM empower mothers by giving seminars such as nutrition, sanitation, and house environmental sanitation in order to improve their living conditions by themselves.

4. Income Generating Program

JLMM provide the IGP income-generating program such as stall-rent program to enhance their family income and thus children can go to school with freedom from picking up garbage. By using our stalls, they go to sell deserts Rotty or Happy Ice Cream to school.

- Preferential option for the poorest communities - It is clear to us that we cannot help all the poor. And so we shall purposely try to seek out the poorest and the most disadvantaged among them.
- Creative and collaborative means - The myriad of problems and the depth of their causes and effects demands us to think creatively for solutions.
- Grass-roots reflection that guide action - The process of searching for creative means to address problems in Cambodian society is discerning how to respond to the call of the times.

Achievements

Jesuit Service worked in 8 places : Phnom Penh, Kampong Thom, Siem Reap, Battambang, Banteay Meanchey, and in the bordering provinces of Kampong Speu, Kampong Chhnang and Kandal. The activities of JSC are divided into the Rural program - Metta Karuna and the Special program. In special program, there are Banteay Prieb, RDAS program, Ecology program, Ear clinic, Publishing Project, and Light of Mercy Home.

Metta Karuna

Our general local project, Metta Karuna (meaning loving compassion) serves the people through education programs and social programs. The main target groups are mostly the most marginalized in society – the poor and people with disabilities. Income generating projects and health projects are also part of the Metta Karuna projects.

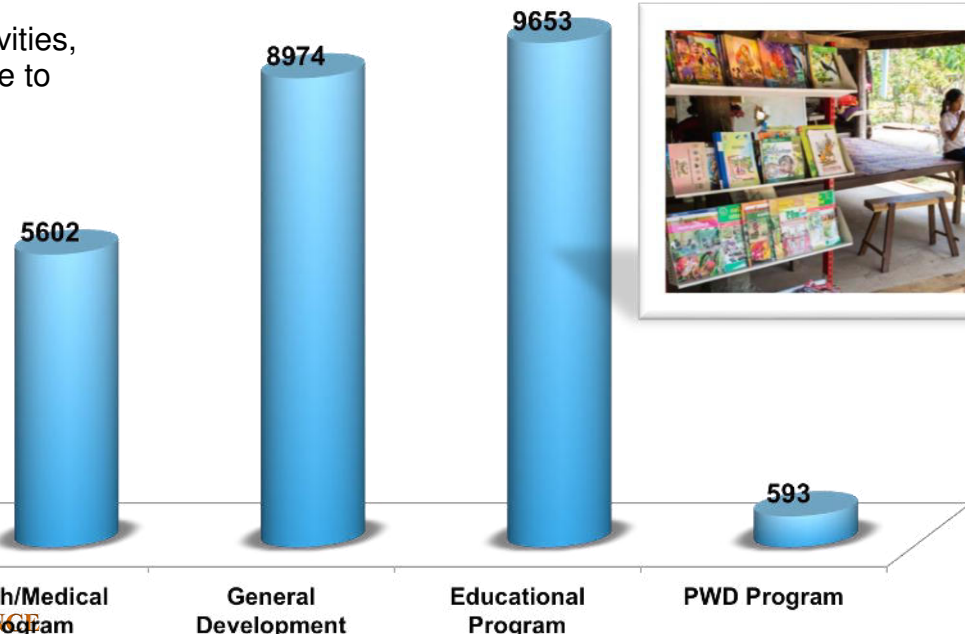

Special Program

Banteay Prieb is a training center and home for young people with disabilities. Rural Development Ang Snoul (RDAS) provides micro-finance for rice and livestock and small loans for poor villagers. The ecology program headquartered in Banteay Prieb began in January 2013. The first year was dedicated to a careful survey of rivers and forests across the country and to networking with environmental activists in Cambodia and other organizations from all over the world. JSC runs two ear clinics – one in Phnom Penh and the other in Battambang - to response to the growing number of people afflicted with ear infections and diseases in Cambodia. Publishing project started to provide children and students in Cambodia good reading materials. The Light of Mercy Home (LMH) provides children with disabilities a home and center where they can attend school and live together with other children who have similar challenges.

Through various activities, JSC in 2013 was able to extend its services to a total of about 25,000 people in 8 provinces in Cambodia.

Maryknoll Cambodia

Maryknoll is a Catholic mission organization based in the United States. Founded in 1911, it now works in more than 40 countries around the world. The Maryknoll family consists of priests and brothers, sisters, lay missionaries, and affiliates. Its mission is to those who are most poor and marginalized.

Vision

*And God answered me:
Write this vision. Make it plain on tablets,
so that a runner may read it.
For still the vision awaits its time.
It speaks to the end, and will not lie.
If it seems to tarry, wait for it.
It will surely come. It will not delay (Hab. 2:2-4)*

We, the members of the Maryknoll Cambodia Mission Team, impelled by the gospel and our experience of a loving and reconciling God, have come together in mission to Cambodia, a country permeated with the gifts and graces of the Buddhist way. The tragic history of this country, the extraordinary courage of these people, the emerging capacity and mutuality within the nation and the people call us to awe at the power of hope. But Cambodia, as a nation and as a people, present us with a challenge: how do we reflect both the compassion and the challenge of Jesus in the face of the horrors of the past and the damage they have done, recognizing that now is the time to move forward, to take steps together toward peace and development with justice.

We believe that Cambodians can and must be offered the skills and tools to enable them once again to take full responsibility for the leadership of their own country, creating from the ashes of destruction and loss a nation that gathers all Cambodians of good will into a spirit of harmony and peace and cooperation.

If the vision seems slow, wait for it. It will surely come.

Achievements

Maryknoll has carried out several activities in various projects and programs including Deaf Development Programme, Maryknoll Center Anlong Kangan, Assistance to Higher Education at Royal University of Phnom Penh, Seedling of Hope, Maryknoll Mental Health, Boeung Tum Pun Community Health and Education, and Horizons Vocational Training Institute reaching out to a total of about 4,000 people and about 2,000 students as well as 300 faculty members. Throughout the history of the Church, the spirit of God has often inspired people to dedicate themselves to the poor and to share their poverty. In this way the spirit makes present Christ's own love of mankind and his union with it in its poverty and need.

Blessed Mother Teresa Bojaxhiu received a call to such a dedication to the poor, trusting completely in Divine Providence. This "call within a call" came to her on 10th September, 1946. After receiving the necessary permissions, she began her work among the poorest people of Calcutta in India. As the congregation grew and its work expanded, Mother Teresa saw that there was need to open houses outside Calcutta and later outside India. As the houses opened more and more Mother Teresa felt the need for a congregation of men sharing the same Charism. She founded the Missionaries of Charity Brothers on 25th March, 1963.

As a pious union, it attracted several young men. They were originally under the guidance of the Missionaries of Charity sisters and their spiritual directors. During this time Mother Teresa was waiting for someone suitable to take up the leadership of the Brothers. In December 1965, Fr. Ian Travers-Ball S.J. came for an experience with the brothers. Even as a Jesuit he had a special desire to work with the poor. Seeing his attraction to the vocation of the brothers, Mother Teresa saw him as the answer to her prayers and asked him to take over the formation and guidance of the brothers. After prayer and reflection he agreed and obtained permission from his Jesuit Superiors. Taking the name "Brother Andrew", he joined the Missionaries of Charity Brothers in February 1966.

The Aim

We see our aim as seeking to quench this thirst of Jesus: his thirst for the salvation of all, and his thirst within each person for the fullness of life and love. This teaches us in satisfying even the simplest needs of our brothers and sisters, we are also contributing to satisfying Christ's ultimate goal of uniting all in love. Our Spirituality is characterized by the conviction that it is possible to live a life of deep union with God, as Christ did, even in the midst of the demands of our life with the poor.

Vision

A community of compassionate servants, loving and serving God in the distressing disguise of the poorest of the poor, both materially and spiritually, caring for the unwanted, the unloved and the lonely recognizing in them and restoring to them their dignity as being made in the image and likeness of their Creator.

Our particular mission is to labor for the salvation and sanctification of the poorest of the poor not only in the slums but also all over the world wherever they may be; the poor, abandoned, neglected, and homeless and those who have no one to care for them.

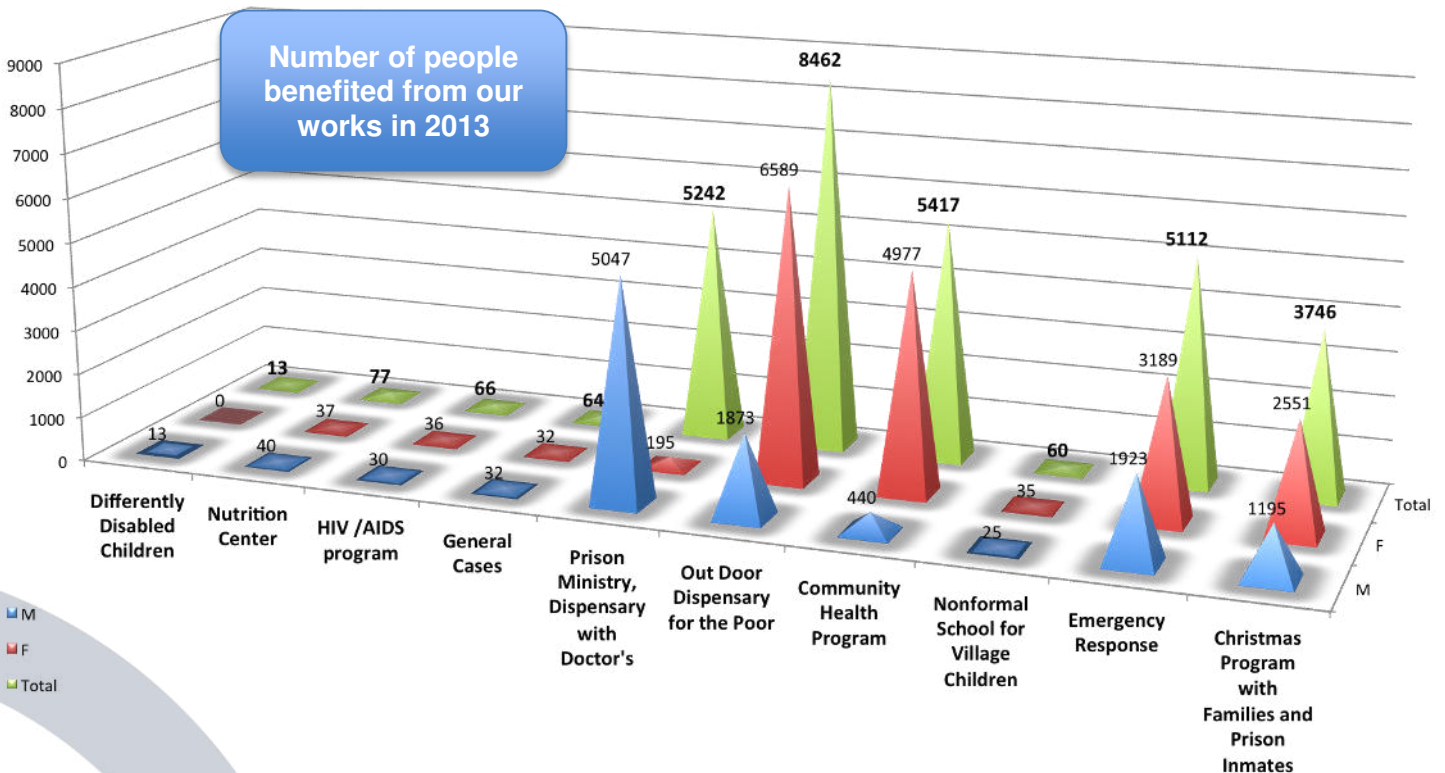

Achievements

Missionary of Charity Brothers – The growing demand for charity works in Cambodia especially for the abandoned and the neglected elderly and persons with disabilities sector provide opportunities for Missionaries of Charity Brothers to put into action the mission of the congregation. In 2003, brothers opened their community at Trepyang Sala village, in Dangor District.

Missionary of Charity Sisters – Sisters arrived in Cambodia on 26th Nov. 1990, together with Fr. TONIE. PIME. From 1990 to 1992 they stayed in rented house in phnom Penh and later on 1992 they moved to new villa at Monivong Blvd. Here they have nutrition program for the small children, Outdoor clinic, visiting the poor families in and around Phnom Penh. In 1994, Sisters opened a center at Chom Chao – Home of Peace. In this center sisters care T.B patients, General patients, HIV and AIDS adults. Beside this they have out door clinic every Saturday and visiting poor families and sick people. In 2001, Sisters opened another center at Sieam Rieap – Home of Joy. In this center they have nutrition program for the poor and sick infants as well as visiting poor families.

Vision

We envision a society where everyone can receive education and care, according to his/her needs and abilities, and participate to the development of his/her own rural or urban community.

Salesian Sisters of Don Bosco

(or Daughters of Mary, Our Help)

The Salesian Sisters of Don Bosco was founded in Italy in 1872 by St. John Bosco and St. Mary Domenica Mazzarello. This religious family has its origin in the heart and mind of Don Bosco and in the creative fidelity with which Mother Mazzarello and the first FMA Sisters assumed the mission intended for them -- that of being daughters and helpers of Mary Help of Christians, and of being Don Bosco's "living monument" of gratitude to the Mother of God. The Sisters were to do for young girls what the Salesians were already doing for poor boys: prepare them for life by teaching them work skills, and form them into good Christians and honest citizens.

Vision

A peaceful, developed Cambodia, where

- poor youth receive quality education,
- moral and spiritual values are upheld,
- women play active roles in decision-making and nation building.

Mission

- to inspire hope,
- to nurture life and
- to promote human dignity through integral education of poor youth, especially girls, that they may experience God's love and be empowered to become active and honest citizens.

Mission in Cambodia:

The Salesian Sisters came to Cambodia in 1992. Seeing the need for education, human promotion and development of youth, the Sisters first opened a Youth Center in Tuol Kork, which was then considered the red-light district of Phnom Penh. The Center offered recreational facilities and youth activities, lessons in Khmer, Thai and English languages, values formation, sports and art lessons and later, dressmaking and typing-computer courses.

When nearly a hundred young women started coming regularly, Don Bosco Vocational Training Center for Girls was built in 1993. It also provided a hostel for girls coming from far-away villages. A kindergarten was added in 1994 and in 1997, a second center with a youth hostel was built in the village of Teuk Thla (Sen Sok District) and the students of dressmaking were moved there. A kindergarten- primary school was added, along with the Food and Home Management Course at the new site in Teuk Thla.

In 2001, Don Bosco School – Phum Chreh, was built to accommodate very poor children in the urban village of Chreh and in 2002, a group of Sisters opened a Literacy and Dressmaking Center in the province of Battambang, primarily to provide skills and prevent girls from being trafficked or exploited especially along the Cambodia-Thai border.

The Laura Welcome Home in Tuol Kork was opened in 2004 as a response of hope and love to the needs of abandoned girls or those in extremely difficult family situations. Meanwhile, the elementary school in Teuk Thla was extended to middle school and a new secondary school has just opened this October, 2014.

Trócaire was set up in 1973 by the Bishops of Ireland to express the concern of the Irish Catholic Church for the suffering of the world's poorest people. Trócaire is the official overseas development agency of the Catholic Church in Ireland. Today Trócaire works in over 20 countries on issues including livelihoods, human rights, gender equality, HIV, climate change and emergency relief.

Trócaire believes in justice, dignity and people's fundamental human rights, and we work with and support the poorest and most vulnerable people. Trócaire works in partnership with communities in the developing world to support their efforts to improve their lives, meet their basic needs, and ensure their human dignity. We believe that real change can only come about by giving people the tools and skills necessary to change their own lives and we offer long-term support to our partners and beneficiaries around the world, maintaining relationships over a number of years.

Vision and Mandate

Trócaire envisages a just and peaceful world:

Where people's dignity is ensured and rights are respected;

Where basic needs are met and resources are shared equitably;

Where people have control over their own lives; and
Where those in power act for the common good.

As a member of the Caritas network of Catholic development and humanitarian agencies, Trócaire can reach remote communities all over the developing world, creating long-term projects aimed at delivering long-term results.

In Ireland, we raise awareness about the causes of poverty through our outreach programmes in the education sector, through parish networks, and through our public campaigns and advocacy work.

Values

Our values represent the code by which our organisation lives. Our values inform how we work and behave, how we make our decisions and the actions we take. We strive to live them every day and have them present both in our hearts and our minds. Catholic Social Teaching stresses the dignity of each person, their inalienable human rights regardless of culture, ethnicity, gender or religion. This belief in the unity and diversity of humankind is the basic value we bring to what we do. Our support is offered regardless of race, gender, religion or politics.

Achievements

Trócaire's Land Rights Programme entitled 'Indigenous Communities Mobilise for their Communal Land Security' has been working towards the achievement of three main results; 1) empowerment and support to address indigenous peoples' land rights, 2) improvement of land security and tenure, and 3) lobbying with the policy-makers to recognise and respect indigenous peoples' rights.

The programme is supporting 55 indigenous target communities from 7 ethnic groups (Kreung, Tumpuoen, Jarai, Kachok, Kavet, Lun and Brao) in Ratanakiri province.

A total of five villages are now at stage 7 of the communal land title process and have received a letter for interim protection measure from the Ministry of Land Management and are waiting for their communal land titles. Other communities are progressing at different stages of the communal land title process.

Trócaire and its partners are working with communities to improve community collaboration and solidarity so that they can advocate for their rights and protect their land as a community. Women's participation in decision making has also been a focus, and women have taken up more leadership roles as a result of improved understanding of their rights in regards to land. Some women are now representing communities in the communal land title committees and taking up roles as focal points.

The programme also continues to advocate for an increase in the number of communal land titles. From 2012 to 2013, only 3 indigenous peoples' communities were envisaged annually for communal land title; however that has now increased to 10 communities per year.

In 2013, the programme benefited a total of 12,870 people (7,235 male and 5,635 female).

Istituto per la Cooperazione allo Sviluppo

The Institute is a consortium of local administrations to foster cooperation in a decentralized way among equally responsible partners of local public administrations.

Based on the concept of “decentralized cooperation” the Institute promotes cultural interchanges and international cooperation through the introduction at home of specific training into the local education system, the exchange of visits and pertinent publications. On the other hand it directly participates in planning and implementation of interventions of cooperation abroad when conditions allow for true partnership and enhancement of mutual understanding through joint actions by local governments of different countries.

History of involvement in Cambodia

The ICS has links with Cambodia that go back to 1985 when, the precursor of ICS, the NGO ‘UNO PIU’ of Casale Monferrato, Alessandria (Italy), through the CIDSE programme, installed the first rice silos in the provinces of Kampong Speu and Kandal.

In 1987 the provincial authorities of Alessandria received a first Cambodian delegation, guided by the then Vice Minister of Agriculture, Mr. Chhea Song. Following that visit and exposure and training course on the aspects involved in rice growing (agronomy, irrigation, mechanics) were organized for Cambodian MOA Staff.

Links strengthened during the following years with various types of cooperation and exchanges, including the introduction of different Italian NGOs to Cambodia. In 1989 started the cooperation with Kampong Thom through a programme of support for the IDPs in Prasat Balang district: repair of Ou Krouch water reservoir in Tuol Kroeul Commune, school construction, credit and saving scheme for the resettled population. In 1999 ICS repaired the Bos M’kak dike, district of Kampong Sway, in a joined intervention with the Cambodian Social Fund.

CRS Cambodia

CRS began working in Cambodia between 1973 and 1975, providing humanitarian assistance to refugees fleeing conflict areas. In 1979, several CRS staff opened some of the first refugee camps in Thailand to aid Cambodian refugees. During the refugee crisis from 1979-1990, CRS allocated more than US $15 million for assistance to refugees in camps along the Thai border. In 1980, CRS provided relief to victims of famine, and in 1986, began to provide relief and rehabilitation support in Cambodia on a regular basis through its membership in the CIDES (Cooperation International pour le Development et la Solidarite) network.

Achievements

CRS officially reopened in Phnom Penh in 1991. Main programming areas are Health and Education in partnership with local organizations. Partnership for CRS is based on the principle, known as “subsidiarity,” that people and organizations in their own context are best suited to identify and address their own development needs. Through complementary programming and shared vision, CRS and its partners hope to enhance human dignity and reduce poverty in the country. Currently CRS works with 11 partners in areas of Inclusive Education for children with disabilities, Health System Strengthening, TB and HIV. In 2013/2014 CRS and partners reached around 1,076,000 vulnerable Cambodians through various projects.

Health & HIV/AIDS Program: In FY2013, health program activities in TB, HIV and Health System Strengthening jointly reached close to 1 million beneficiaries. CRS Cambodia has become a leader in community-based initiatives and has carved out a particular expertise in nutrition as it relates to HIV & AIDS. achieve meaningful improvements in educational outcomes for children with disabilities. Key project strategies are reducing barriers that prevent children attending school, as well as improving the quality of education offered to children with disabilities once they are in the classroom. In a relatively short time, CRS has been instrumental in helping better inform national inclusive education policy and helped improve education quality through the development of specific inclusive education screening tools and in-classroom learning improvements. CRS currently works in 18 schools in 3 districts of Takeo province supporting over 450 children with disabilities and building capacity of over 220 teachers.

Marist Solidarity Cambodia (MSC) was formed from the merger of Marist Mission Australia, (MMA) and Youth with Disabilities Foundation for Education and Employment, (Yodiffee).

In 1998 the Marist Brothers from the Province of Sydney, Australia, together with members of staff, Cambodian and foreign, established LaValla School, an elementary school for young Cambodians with physical disabilities. The commitment made in 1998 to help young, physically handicapped Cambodians go as far as possible with their formal schooling meant that members of the first group to complete their elementary schooling at LaValla looked to the school for further assistance. For a period of time LaValla and some staff provided accommodation for ex-students beginning high school.

In 2002 Yodiffee was established with the assistance of the Marist Fathers of Australia. Its purpose was to support young Cambodians with physical disabilities as they accessed secondary and tertiary education or sought opportunities for skills training. Further, Yodiffee was committed to helping those young people to find employment or to establish themselves independently in small businesses. In 2005 again with the assistance of the Australian Marist Fathers, Villa Maria was built, and LaValla and Yodiffee separated to operate independently yet collaboratively.

In 2010 LaValla School and Yodiffee began the process of amalgamation to become Marist Solidarity Cambodia. Now, in 2013, Marist Solidarity Cambodia encompassing LaValla School, Villa Maria and all of the projects initiated by Yodiffee, operates under the aegis of Australian Marist Solidarity and is governed locally by its own Board of Directors.

Catholic Social Communications

CATHOLIC CHURCH IN CAMBODIA

The Catholic Church in Cambodia with its 3 jurisdictions (the Apostolic Vicariate of Phnom Penh and the Apostolic Prefectures of Kompong Cham and Battambang) started a project for media communications in February 2003. For that purpose, a national office was set up in Phnom Penh and called National Office for CATHOLIC SOCIAL COMMUNICATION (CSC), under the coordination of Fr. Omer Giraldo (MXY). The first goal of this center consists in developing the social communications apostolate for the Catholic Church in Cambodia.

From 2003 to 2005 the main objective was to build up the necessary infrastructure for a sustainable frame support. By the end of the third year, in December 2005, CSC centre in Phnom Penh has been set up and is working on an everyday basis. Then CSC has reinforced its structure with people more experienced in journalism and communications. Year after year the editorial line of each CSC media department has become more precise and directly connected to the field. CSC advocates a larger use of media from priests and lay catholic people. For its financial needs, CSC tries to work more and more with local resources.

On March 2009, after the departure of Fr. Omer appointed in his own missionary society in Colombia, the three Bishops of Cambodia appointed two lay people at the head of CSC: Mr. LY Sovanna, new CSC Executive director and Ms. KEO Kagnha, Vice director in charge of accounting. Finally Father Chatsirey Roeung, TMS, was appointed as Bishop's delegate for Social communication to make the daily link with the dioceses.

CAFOD is the official aid agency of the Catholic Church in England and Wales, and part of Caritas International. Across the world we bring hope and compassion to poor communities, standing side by side with them to end poverty and injustice.

Vision

A world transformed to reflect the Kingdom of God: a world where –

- the rights and dignity of every person are respected
- all have access to basic needs in life
- women and men share equally in shaping their societies and our world
- the gifts of creation are nurtured and shared by all for the common good
- the structures that shape people's lives are just and enable peace.

As one among the Catholic international development agencies, CAFOD has been playing a role in Cambodia development since 1980. In 2011, CAFOD opened a sub-regional office in Phnom Penh to manage programs in our South East Asia programmes, mainly Cambodia, and Myanmar and to build closer relationships with partners and other development stakeholders. Having long been involved in the country, CAFOD's work has evolved over the years to strategically focus on land rights, livelihoods and resilience. We also aim to influence policy and good practice for businesses and government.

Partnership is an essential identity of CAFOD and the programme in Cambodia is currently being implemented by seven local non-governmental organizations. CAFOD has been working with two groups of partners: Development and Partnership in Action (DPA), NGO Forum on Cambodia, Banteay Srei (BS), and Cambodian Civil Society Partnership (CCSP) to achieve one of its programme goal, which is to reduce vulnerability and promote environmental and livelihood stability of marginalised communities. To contribute to sustained reduction in HIV prevalence and improved quality of life for women, men and children affected by HIV and AIDS, CAFOD has provided funding supports to this second group of partners including Salvation Centre Cambodia (SCC), HIV/AIDS Coordinating Committee (HACC), and Cambodian HIV Education Centre (CHEC).
